

What I have typed :

A screenshot of a web application dialog box titled "Modifier le commentaire de la photo/vidéo". The dialog has a dark header bar with a close button (red X) and a maximize button (square icon). The main area is a large text input field containing two lines of text: "Test 1 to see." and "Test ligne 2 pour voir !". At the bottom right of the dialog, there are two buttons: "Annuler" (Cancel) and "Enregistrer" (Save).

What I see when I open again :
